HNCE teacher Dedeaux honored by Favre, NFL

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS It is a long way from Hancock County to Wisconsin, but Hancock native Brett Favre had not forgotten a teacher who played a very important role in his life some 16 years ago. That special teacher Billie Ray Dedeaux was honored on Thursday when he received the NFL September Teacher of the Month award at Hancock North Central Elementary before a student assembly.

Dedeaux was only one of five teachers recognized this NFL football season and the only one from a elementary school.

Dedeaux received a grant of $2,500 from the NFL and the school where the teacher and NFL player met, received a $5.000 NFL grant.

The NFL teacher of the month program was created in 1990 by NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue and the NFL clubs to honor primary and secondary school teachers who have had a positive influence on NFL players.

"The aim of the program is to honor and recognize teachers, stated Commissioner Taglibue," and to encourage our young fans to think of teachers, as well as athletes, as role models."

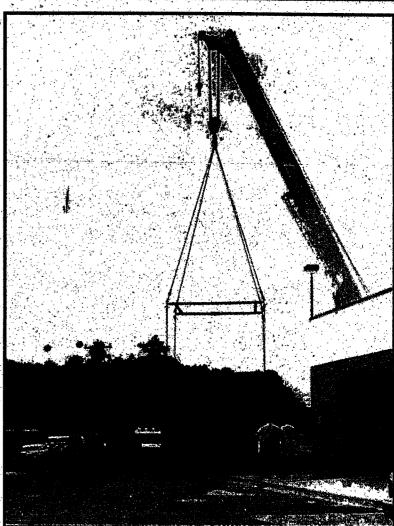

Dedeaux was Favre's fourth grade teacher at HNCE, where he now teaches sixth grade and has been on the school's staff for the past 19 years.

"Many of those years he was the only male teacher on the staff," said, Darnell Cuevas, HNCE 4-6 principal, who added, "He played a very important part as a male role model for students, as he still does today." The staff now has three male teachers.

"He taught me a great deal about hard work, morals, and values," remembered Favre about his elementary school teacher. "These are the lessons I have taken with me as I have grown up. Mr. Dedeaux is still a friend to me. Our relationship has continued to grow ever since I had him as a teacher in the 4th grade."

An elated Dedeaux said, "I first met Brett in 1978 as a fourth grader in my classroom.

it's a logical expansion site for Casino Magic.

But he said he expects Casino Magic will proceed with hotel development plans in Bay St. Louis in the very near future. "I think we'll be starting something by fall," he said.

Pilings for the casino's hotel here were driven a year ago, but the casino decided to build a 200-room lodge first.

That facility, said Sidders, started off with a 35 percent occupancy level in January, Thyla Rogers, Humane Society president said, "There will be ten animals up for adoption with shots and a certificates for rabies shots.

The reason for this special offer is because of overcrowded conditions at the Waveland Animal Shelter, Rogers said.

Waveland Mayor Mason is waiving the usual cost of adoption starting Monday morning until a total of ten dogs and cats are adopted, Rogers said. The Humane Society will pay for the rabies certificates for the Rogers said, "There are only two ways to alleviate the overcrowding situation, and Mayor Mason has opted for the humane method by lifting the adoption charge for the first ten animals to be adopted."

Nancy Gallagher, shelter director, urges all residents that whenever they have a pet missing, to please call the shelter and give a description and telephone number.

Jubilee, HMC, reach settlement

BY MARY G. SEILEY Hancock Medical Center and Jubilee Casino have settled litigation concerning payments for medical services.

A joint motion to dismiss the lawsuit was filed March 15.

Hancock Medical sued Jubilee in January, alleging the casino had some $306,000 in unpaid bills for care of Jubilee Jubilee officials acknowledged they owed some money to the medical center, but contested how much was due. And the casino said that the hospital was to blame for bogging down some payments by failing to give the casino's health care officials adequate information on the claims.

Jubilee has made "substantial payments" to the medical center in recent weeks, and agreed to pay $28,466 at a Hancock Medical Center board of trustees meeting March 15, according to the settlement

Bay gas disruption ads up to $25,761

BY MARY G. SEILEY Bay St. Louis officials expect a $25,761 payback for costs of the January citywide gas service disruption. Koch Gateway Pipeline Co.,

owner of the distribution system which supplies the city's gas, has agreed to cover all costs of the incident, said Municipal Clerk Kay Johnson.

The city's computation of costs includes $18,106 in manhour costs, mostly for overtime paid to city crews that had to shut down -- and later reopen -all 1,650 gas meters in the city.

The intensive effort started late in the afternoon of Jan. 11, when customers began to jam City Hall phone lines with complaints that gas service had stopped.

Later investigation showed that someone had closed a distribution valve during tests on Koch equipment in the Pass Christian area.

City officials had to shut off all meters in the city's system, in light of the dangers of the situation. Once service could be

Jubilee agreed to make sure outstanding claims are processed quickly, and to give the medical center any information it has to verify how much the casino's insurance plan covers in individual cases.

The agreement said the dispute could be dealt with, by working together, "without the need for protracted litigation."

Mondays have been designated as red beans and rice day at my home for as far back as I can remember. That meal goes back to when I was a lad growing up in Waveland.

This is just a tradition carried over to the area, probably from the New Orleans influence, as my mother was a native of that city. Just think, she has lived in Waveland since the 20's.

This past Monday, myself and a few others had a very interesting task.

The task was to select the best red beans and rice cook from Hancock Bank's six branches in Hancock

The reason being, Hancock Bank is one of 27 entries in the annual American Cancer Society's annual Red Beans and Rice Cook-off scheduled for Monday, March 27, and they want their best cook at the front.

This Monday-a-week affair is to be held at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

I have to tell all those other bean competitors one thing — they are just lucky all six of the Hancock Bank branches are not competing. They sure had some great beans to offer, and all six had a distinctive, different

I may not be an expert on judging, but I do have experience, as I have been a judge several times at the annual fund raiser for the Cancer Society.

I would like to suggest the other 26 bean cooks to be prepared for some stiff competition.

By the way, don't forget to purchase your tickets for the dinner. They are available from the participants and American Cancer Society members for a donation of $6 a person. They will be at the door, too.

If it doesn't stop raining we may end up growing webbed feet.

Every day it rains it's possible we are becoming a tropical rainforest.

Weather predictions have been 'all wet' too, as it is impossible to predict when the rain will stop.

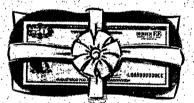

I want to get some work done in my yard, but that is impossible as it is so wet.

In several months we probably will be praying for rain when everything dries out.

I have been told about a double rainbow in the Bay on Thursday evening.

Livish I could have seen it, as it has been some time since labave seen one in our area.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative Harry Frierson

A weekly summary

The 1995 legislative session is moving into its final stages following approval of a series of bond measures and more than 90 appropriations bills in the past week by the House of Representatives, including proposed increases in funding for mental health programs, state's correctional system and other priority needs.

Other bond measures passed by the House included $17.5 million for a Telecommunication Conference and Training Center to be located in Jackson, with partial funding to come from a special tax of 75 cents a day on motel and hotel rooms;

$42.9 million to implement statewide telecommunications networks for community colleges, universities, and public libraries, with the bonds to be paid from the Education Enhancement Fund;

$10 million for a revolving loan program to help local governments in railroad revitalization projects and encourage future growth of railroad traffic

$6.9 million for renovation and improvements at the Mississippi Coliseum and state fairgrounds; and $4 million to provide $50,000 grants to counties for construction and improvement of local livestock facilities. Budget bills pass the House include provisions to authorize a proposed salary increase of $1.200 for state employees and personnel at the state's universities, and a six percent pay raise to go to faculty and staff members at the community

A General Fund appropriation totaling $227.9 million was approved for support of the universities; more than $91 million was allocated for community colleges; and $94 million was authorized for the University of Mississippi Medical Center and its related programs.

The House rejected efforts to include additional funds for the state's three predominantly black universities in light of a federal court ruling in the Ayers desegregation case.

But it was pointed out the appropriation for higher education may be adjusted in conference later if necessary to comply with the court mandate.

There also was an unsuccessful attempt to block implementation of any new admission policies at the universities prior to July 1996.

Other key appropriations winning House approval included $152.9 million in General Fund money for mental health institutions and programs, an increase of about $15 million over this year's budget. The consolidated budget proposal includes more than $61 million in general funds for the State Hospital at Whitfield, $27 million for East Mississippi State Hospital, $14.7 million for Ellisville State School, and varying amounts for other facilities.

In addition, the bill would help finance 10 additional group homes for former psychiatric patients, six additional group homes for the mentally retarded, three therapeutic group homes for children, and provide $200,000 to be used for crisis intervention services for children and youth.

The House voted to allocate $25 million in state funds for repair and rehabilitation of rural birdges, the second $25 million outlay under a five-year bridge program initially approved during the 1994

An amendment was adopted by the House to provide $1 million for the Mississippi Fire Fighters Memorial Burn Center in Greenville, primarily for new or replacement equipment. The money would come from some unused funds allocated in 1994 for disaster relief purposes.

Several supplemental expenditures were approved.

The House agreed to accept Senate amendments to several bills, including proposals to strengthen child pornography laws, create a Mississippi Professional Corporation Act, require state agencies to prepare an economic impact statement when adopting rules and regulations, establish a Liquified Compressed Gas Board, revise state litter laws, and authorize an advisory panel to study laws and regulations dealing with management and preservation of local governmental records. These now go to the Governor.

And a resolution was adopted to ratify the 13th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which abolished slavery in the nation. The state's 1890 Constitution already contains a similar provision.

Special visitors to the House during the past week included Evelyn McPhail of Bay St. Louis, recently elected cochairman of the republican National Committee, and the talented concert choir from Jackson's Jim Hill High School which performed last December at Carnegie Hall in New York City.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI SENATE

By Senator Bill Johnson

Four deadlines met this week

The Senate week encompassed meeting four separate deadlines on existing appropriations and revenue bills. Floor action, reconsideration, disposal of motions to reconsider and sending appropriations and revenue bills to conference had to be completed by Saturday, March 18.

The 90-day legislative session is scheduled to end on Sunday April 2.

The week's agenda also included announcing members conference committees, which consist of three Senators and three Representatives or conferees, who go to conference to negotiate and report out the final version of a bill. Conferees meet on bills that both bodies were unable to agree upon, State law allows conference committees to conduct closed meetings but not all conferees exercise that privilege.

The Senate calendar was cleared of the appropriations and revenue bills once floor action was taken on the bills. These bills now go to conference to determine where and how much of the state budget will be

This week the Joint Legislative Budget Committee agreed to raise previous estimates by $65 million for fiscal year 1995 and $65 million for fiscal year

Other action in the week included Senate approval of several bills which are now on the way to the Governor.

S. B. 2106: Bribery; offeror subject to same punishment as offeree; DA to prosecute;

S.B. 3074 to establish a Center for Education Analysis; S.B. 2094: Emergency vehicle parking restrictions enforces on private property by law enforcement officers; S.B. 2994: Driver of motor vehicle shall slow speed at certain railroad crossings; and S.B. 2065: Certain federal retirees shall be paid the same amount of state income taxes they paid on federal retirement benefits.

The Senate also voted to approve the House amendment to Senate Bill 2172 which establishes the Mississippi Resident Tuition Assistance Grant Program.

Grants of $500 will be made available to full-time freshmen and sophomores while juniors and seniors can receive $1,000. Students can attend any university, college or community college in the state of Mississippi. Senate Bill 2172 also establishes an Eminent Scholars Fund for grants up to $2,500. Eligibility requirements include: semi-finalist or finalist for National Merit Scholarship; or 3.5 GPA in high school and 1200 SAT score or equivalent on ACT or home schooled; certification as eminent scholar by college or university; high school dipolma or equivalent; application made during final year of high school; first time, full-time Mississippi college or university student; resident minimum of four years; and continually maintain cumulative 3.2 GPA.

The Governor signed into law several Senate bills this week some of which include: S.B. 2204 which would extend the Prison Overcrowding Emergency Powers Act; S.B. 2392 which clarifies the responsibilities between local and state transportation departments concerning highways within cities;

S.B. 2486 which provides for a resident 3-day fishing license; S.B. 2554 which licenses and regulates the practice of auctioneery; S.B. 2763 which defines and prohibits telecommunications fraud; S.B. 3061 which provides for the training of alternative managers and clers for election;

S.B. 2076 which eliminates a time limit on the search for tax sale land lienors; S.B. 2158 which revises the manner in which user tax on locomotive fuel is calculated; and S.B. 2480 which extends the authorization of the house arrest program.

Bean judges

Among those judging Hancock Bank's red bean cook-off compeition for their six branches in Hancock County were from left, Ellis C. BREWER'S WORLD

Kids and attorneys

By Jimmie Brewer

BY JIM BREWER Good morning all you colorful dudes and dudettes of the south. Well it's a fact, spring has finally arrived! Whew, the winters down here in this part of the country are really rough, aren't they? I thought there for awhile I might actually have to break out a jacket. What a place!

Hey, I've finally discovered the perfect occupation for the gruesome twosome (my nine year old son and 11 year old daughter). They are gonna make some mighty fine criminal attorneys some day.

In fact based on what I've seen so far in the O.J. circus trial, I think they're already fully qualified for the job. Just take a look at their qualifications.

They love to call each other creative, degrading names. They deny doing anything wrong even when you catch them in the actual act. They rarely play fair. They can drive an authority figure absolutely bonkers in a short period of time. They misrepresent facts (rather eloquently I might add). My daughter, English, can roll her eyes with the best of them, and my son, Jimmie, can point and shake his finger exactly like an experienced attorney. I guess in a way Judge Lance Ito and myself have a little something in common (unfortunately its not money). He has the grueling and tiresome job of parenting Marsha Clark and F. Lee Bailey and I have the enviable position of being my kids

It's obvious that the judge is experiencing some of the same frustations as there is in fatherhood. He has already sanctioned and disciplined both the prosecution and the defense on many occassions.

But, as so often happens with my kids, the attorneys roll or bat their eyes, apologize pitifully, say something cute and go right back to doing what they were doing in the first place.

I think its time the judge tried a different method of discipline in his court. Instead of fining the lawyers and finding them in contempt, why not sit their little derriers in a tiny little "time out" chair in the corner of the room. This will work for minor violations of the law

More serious violations should require the attorneys to stand with their nose up against the blackboard while holding a couple of very large law books.

Extremely serious violations would require the judge to construct a little bedroom just outside the courtroom where he could restrict the lawyers and send them to their bedroom.

Alright folks, as you can see. I've been watching a tad too much of this fiasco. By the way, if you think the Juice is innocent, I have a nice little three bedroom ranch style house on Jupitor I'd like to sell you.

Praise for do-gooders this week goes out to those folks called Hope Haven who hang out at Carol's Olde Towne restaurant and find ways to help the abused, neglected and abandoned children of Hancock County. Way to go gang! Peace.

He commented on Brett's progress as a football player through junior high, high school and the University of Southern Mississippi, and how his jerseys at Hancock and USM had been

"At Southern, Brett became a starter in his third game of the season as a freshman," Danzey

The assistant principal then talked about Brett's setting so many records at USM: his passing for 7,695 yards and 52 touchdowns.

At Green Bay Brett has led the Packers to three winning seasons in a row, something the team hasen't done since the

In 1993 Favre was honored as the Mississippi Professional Athlete of the Year.

Danzey in talking about Dedeaux, recalled how he has been a youth director at his church since 1975 and how he expects every child to receive every opportunity to develop his abilities.

Danzey indicated both Favre and Dedeaux made wonderful careers for themselves. "What makes them great is that they chose to be the best, and if you want to be the best you have to work hard at it."

In other comments Favre said, "Many people forget where they have come from. I am very proud of Hancock North Central Elementary. I wish I could have selected every teacher who taught me."

Favre, who begins his fourth season with the Packers, supports several charitable organizations. He created his own player performance charity last year, donating $250 for each TD pass to Children's Hospital or Special Olympics. In addition to his fund-raising efforts, Favre also contributes much of his free time to local Special Olympics activities.

Dedeaux in his comments said, "One teacher can make a difference. I treat each child as if they were my own child."

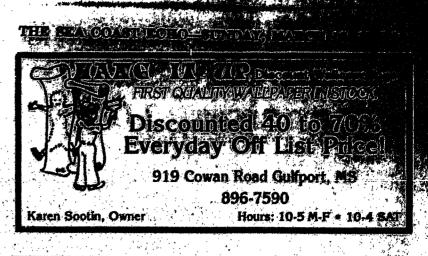

He also talked about the importance of giving every child an opportunity, the importance of love for children, and how important it is for children to have support. They have to be encouraged to do the best they can in everything they do.

Several members of Dedeaux's family were in attendance, including his mother Mrs. Hubert (June) Dedeaux

Many of the 1000 students in attendance had Green Bay Packer banners, caps, buttons, etc., to show their support of their special super star, Brett

In attendance were the Irvin Favres, Brett's father and mother, and other family members. His father was his high school football coach at Hancock High school.

In addition to football at Hancock, Brett lettered in baseball also, Danzey said.

Saints to celebrate 100 years in county

Special to the Echo Dedication services of the expanded chapel of the Waveland Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints have been scheduled for March 26 at 4 p.m. at the corner of McLauren St. and Nicholson

Edwardsville church

This chapel was dedicated by the Latter-Day Saints in the Edwardsville community in 1937. The chapel was later dismantled and moved to the Bayou LaCroix community in 1942. The chapel received heavy damage by Hurricane Camille in 1969 and was condemned. In 1974, the membership met for services in an uncompleted chapel at the corner of Nicholson Avenue and McLaurin St., Waveland, the current location of the recently expanded chapel of the Waveland Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Sept. 4, 1994, marked 100 years since the first converts were baptized in Hancock County by missionaries. On Sept. 4, 1894, five converts were baptized in Bayou LaCroix at a place called Roman Landing. They were George Henry Wainwright, three half brothers, James Carlos Farve, Joel Joseph Farve, Lemule David Farve, and a nephew, Albert Favre Jr. On April 11, 1926, the membership began holding meetings and Sunday School in a house on Main Street and Necaise Avenue until completion and dedication of a chapel in the Edwardsville community in April of 1937.

In 1942, the chapel and membership moved from Edwardsville to the Bayou LaCroix community. When Hurricane Camille struck the Coast all was lost, and the chapel was condemned.

In 1974, the membership met for services in an uncompleted chapel at the corner of McLaurin St. and Nicholson Avenue, with James Walden as branch president. In 1984, a second addition was added to accommodate increased membership.

The church has several auxiliary programs. Each with its won respected leaders, secretaries and music personnel were needed.

The Relief Society is one of the oldest and largest women's organization in the world. It was established in 1842 to help the sick, poor and others in need of compassionate service. Their weekly meetings provided instructions in theology, social relations, home and family education and compassionate service.

The Relief Society has visiting teachers. Women in the ward should be visited at least once a month by her visiting teacher to assist her with spiritual and temporal needs. Loc-ally, Bobby Clark serves as president, with Elaine Ladner and Rebecca Scalzin as counselors.

Primary has a responsibility to help parents teach their children (ages 3-12) the principles of the gospel. Their weekly meetings provide religious instructions and social interaction.

Quarterly activities help foster the social aspects and increase their enjoyment of primary. Locally, Melanie Cuevas serves as president, with Diane Sones and Robin Hode as counselors.

The young men and the young women (ages 12-18) meet on Sunday for religious instructions and also several times during the months for social, cultural and recreational activities that are designed to build faith, character and physical fitness.

All members are given the opportunity to develop their talents in speech, music, drama, sports and leadership. The young men's program also includes the largest churchsponsored Boy Scouts program.

Locally, Dawn Forrest serves as president with Elaine Forrest and Anne Wainwright as counselors for the young women. Tom Forrest serves as president, with Ray Butler and Joey Brockoff as counselors for the young men's program.

The Cub Scouts program is held on Wednesdays for lessons, projects and activities. Al Steber serves as Cub Master.

Sunday School provides religious instructions for ages 12 and up. The New Testament is the course study this year.

George Turner serves as Sunday School president.

Priesthood officers of the church consist of deacons, teachers, priests and elders. Each priesthood quorum has specific responsibilities to serve the members of the church. Donald Cuevas serves as Elders Quorum president, and Dudley Garriga serves as high priest group leader,

Bay manhole potholes a must on Beach Blvd.

BY MARY G. SEILEY Some Bay St. Louis residents are wondering why the city has created a string of potholes along North Beach Boulevard.

It just had to be done, says Public Works Director Ronald J. Vanney, to uncover manholes that have been buried during repaving projects over the Vanney said the city knew the location of the manholes, but had no particular reason to uncover them until the city began a comprehensive study of its sewer system.

Now that the buried covers have been un-paved, he said, the study can proceed -- as soon as the water table drops far enough to allow for smoke testing in the system, he said.

Then, the city will raise the level of the manholes, he said, to make them permanently accessible, and repair the roadway. Meanwhile: "everybody's been calling" about the new bumps in the roadway, said Vanney.

dation by superintendant Paul Tisdale to reorganize the current school system.

The reorganization will consolidate the junior high and highschool. This action will eliminate the principal position at the junior high school.

Board member Linda Penrose voted no on the consolidation."I don't like it. There is no way a principal can take care of that many students" said Penrose.

Tisdale informed Penrose that another assistant would be hired to help with the work load. Later Tisdale said the schools would operate more effective by intergrading.

restored, city workers not only had to re-open all the gas meters, but also had to re-light pilot lights within customers' homes. Johnson said Koch had reimbursed some residents directly for damages to pilot lights.

Aside from the $18,106 in manhour costs, the city spent $1,007 feeding the workcrews. And the city lost $6,647 in gas service revenues for four days, according to the city's calculations.

Johnson said Koch officials have been anxious to reimburse the city for its expenses and revenue losses, and to ensure that a similar incident doesn't occur.

Koch has agreed to pay for valve improvements to minimize the possibility of improper closures, and to install electronic equipment to monitor deliveries through the system on a 24-hour basis. In addition, Koch is installing an alarm and monitor system at the city's fire station, to receive signals from Koch's monitoring equipment.

Diamondhead Boaters hold Mardi Gras ball

Special to the Echo The country club was transformed into "Ports of Call" for the annual Mardi Gras ball Feb.

The table decorations were "krewe ships" resting in a sea of blue glitter. Spanish doubloons were the buried treasure, which were actually party favors from the king and queen.

Our sincere thanks to Joan

OLA has three national merit finalists

Erica Lizana, Lisa Pope and Julie Ryan, seniors at Our Lady Academy, have been named finalists in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program.

This distinction places them in competition for merit scholarship awards to be announced by NMSC in April of May.

Erica Lizana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lizana of DeLisle, is an alpha honor roll student, secretary of the National Honor Society and president of OLA's Environmental Club.

She is also a member of Campus Ministry, the Student Ministry Team and SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving).

Lizana was captain of the Math/Science Team, which placed second in Division II at the 1995 Mississippi Math/ Science Tournament recently.

She also scored in the top ten percent in the individual biology competition at the tournament, as she did the two previous years.

Last year Lizana was a member of the JETS Team (Junior Engineering Technical Society), which placed third in their division in Mississippi and eighth in the nation.

At OLA Lizana has received math, biology, English and service awards, as well as Student of the Month last year.

She was chosen to attend the Mississippi Governor's School last summer.

A member of the Crescent Athletic Club, Lizana has played on the softball and volleyball teams for four years and on the newly organized basketball team this past year.

Lizana is a lector and a member of the choir at St. Stephen-Church in DeLisle and vicepresident of her parish CYO. She is interested in majoring in biological engineering at Mississippi State University.

Lisa Pope is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pope of Bay St. Louis. She is an alpha honor roll student, secretary of the senior class, and a member of the yearbook staff and the OLA News Team (WOLA).

Pope is a second-year member of the Math/Science Team, which placed second in Division II at Clinton recently. She also placed in the top ten percent in the individual biology competition.

Last year Pope was secretary of her junior class and was elected "City Clerk" at Girls State last summer. She is a past member of the French Honor Serving with Campus Ministry, Pope has worked with an autistic child in the Project Do program, both during the school year and in the summer. She is a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Recognized as a Student of the Month for the last six years, Julie Ryan is an all-A honor roll student, president of the National Honor Society, captain of the Quiz Bowl team, and secretary of the Latin Honor Society. Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Ryan from Pass Christian, Ryan is president of St. Paul Catholic Church Youth Organization and a lector and ing in biomedical engineering commentator at St. Paul Church.

Ryan is a three-year member of the Math-Science Team, which placed second in Division II in Clinton recently. In the individual competition in mathematics, Ryan placed in the top ten percent.

Last year Ryan received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award and was a member of the JETS Team, which placed first in their division in Mississippi and eighth in the nation.

Ryan has attended the Mississippi Youth Legislature, the Mock United Nations, Mississippi Governor's School and the National Young Leaders Conference.

She holds membership in the OLA Environmental Club, SADD, the yearbook staff and the Crescent Athletic Club and participates in cross-country.

Active in OLA's Campus Ministry, Ryan is a member of the Student Ministry Team and the Senior Retreat Team. She attended the World Youth Day with the Pope in Denver, has assisted in the Waveland Literacy Program and currently tutors students at St. Paul Elementary after school.

Ryan plans to major in mathematics and political science at Mississippi State or Vanderbilt.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

powerful boost when he prays:

"I give praise to you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for,

There are many people who don't particularly care for me, who ignore me, or even scorn me. Yet, the Creator of the universe so loves me that he sent his only-begotten Son, not to condemn me but to bring me eternal life. (Jn. 3:16)

What a surprise! People have a painful penchant for using me, making a servant, almost a slave, of me. Yet, my own heavenly Brother came not to be served by me, but to serve me and to give his life in ransom for the many. (Mt. 20:28)

An uncomfortably large number of people dislike being in my presence, let alone associating with me on a wholesome basis. Lo and behold, Jesus assures me: "I am with you always, until the end of the age" (Mt. 28:20)

What a boost from the only One who counts at all! Some people duck me, try to avoid me and even leave home if they know I'm coming soon. They want to be where I'm not. And my Brother, the Master of the universe says invitingly:

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will enter his house and dine with him, and he with me. I will give the victor the right to sit with me on my throne" (Rev. 3:20)

Even some of my so-called friends nitpick and find things to criticize me about. Some of it is done to my face, but much more behind my back where, presumably, the nitpickers and fault-finders feel secure in my Surprise! Surprise! Jesus was never a nitpicker. In fact, he dealt with serious sins with moving compassion. Just as he did in the case of Zacchaeus, Mary Magdalene and the woman at the well, he looked beyond my every fault and saw my need.

Some people who have considerable material resources and riches flaunt them before my eyes to impress upon me how much better off they are than I. But, surprise! Jesus is my Brother, and I am heir with him to the entire universe:

His dominion shall be from sea to sea and from the river to the ends of the earth" (Zach.

So there! I don't have to flaunt anything or make any kind of statement with possessions, clothes or power. The prophets have stated it all for me. Then Paul ties it all together, putting my ego and self-esteem on the right foundation:

The Spirit itself bears witness that we are children of God. And, if children, then heirs; heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ" (Rom. 8:16). What a surprise! People tend

Q. I received a tax statement from a mutual fund that shows earnings to be reported on my income tax return. I bought the shares last year, have not sold any, and my investment has gone down in value. Do I still need to report the income?

A. Yes, you must pay taxes on the mutual fund earnings even though you have not seen an increase in the value of your investment. You are paying tax on dividends and capital gains' that may have accrued to the fund before you purchased it. The tax burden falls on shareholders who own the fund when the earnings distributions are declared.

Mutual funds are conduit or

"pass through" investments the income and responsibility for paying tax on the income passes through the fund to its shareholders. Distributions come in several forms. Ordinary dividends are the most common and are reported on the tax statement you received, Form 1099-DIV

Capital gain distributions are paid by mutual funds from their net realized long-term capital gains. Gains may have accrued over many years but your fund has just cashed in some of its winnings.

Even though you were not along for the ride up, you pay tax on the distribution. This affected many investors in 1994 when funds took substantial profits as they reduced exposure to a weak market. These distributions are reported to you on Form 1099-DIV.

If your mutual fund distributions are automatically reinvested, keep statements that show new purchases. Statements should indicate the date, cost basis (amount of our investment for tax purposes), and number of shares.

Your fund may have capital gains that were not distributed. some funds keep long-term capital gains and pay taxes on them. In this case, you report gains which the fund allocates to you. You are also allowed a credit for your share of the tax paid by the mutual fund. The amount of gain and taxes paid are reported to you on Form 2439, Notice to Shareholder of Undistributed Long-Term Capital cates undistributed capital gains to you, increase your basis in the fund shares. Add to your basis the difference between the amount of the capital gain and the amount of tax paid for you by the fund.

One additional distribution type is a return of capital. This is not earnings but a return of your investment. It reduces vour basis in the investment and is not taxable until your basis is reduced to zero. After your basis is fully recovered, it s reported as capital gain. Form 1099-DIV will indicate if any portion of the distribution is a return of capital. For more information, request IRS Publication 564, Mutual Fund Distributions, at 1-800-TAX-FORM.

Avoid unsafe nesting materials for canary

By Dr. Wynn Jones ıarıan MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"I have two canaries, male and female. Do birds require any special kind of nesting materials?"

Canaries do not need specific nesting materials, but you should avoid giving them cer-tain materials because they can be potentially dangerous.

Nesting materials to avoid include dryer lints, hair, yarn or string. These materials can become wrapped around the bird's legs and toes. As the strands tighten, circulation is cut off, threatening the blood supply. Lameness, discoloration or swelling may result.

Unfortunately, the swelling usually is not visible to the bird's owners. Treatment by a veterinarian usually is required.

Store-bought nest materials. and dry, thin blades grass from a field work well. Ask your veterinarian for more information.

"I have owned my cat for about three years. We have lived together in harmony until recently. My cat has decided to start spraying in and around the house for no apparent reason. He also seems to like one of my outdoor rugs to spray on. 'I'm not sure why this has started or how effectively get rid of the odor. Do you have any suggestions?"

Why some cats start spraying in the house can have a variety of reasons. First rule out any medical causes, such as cystitis. Also distinguish between spraying, which winds up on walls, and urinating, which is generally on the floor.

Spraying usually is a behavioral problem, and urination usually is a medical problem. The only way to be sure is to have your cat examined by your veterinarian. If the problem is medical, your veterinarian will prescribe appropriate treatment. A behavioral problem will require some form of behavior modification.

Sometimes a cat will spray to mark his territory from other cats. If you can confine this area just for your cat, it can cut down on spraying. Keeping the litter-box immaculately clean also can help.

Some cats particularly like small throw rugs with non-skid backing to urinate or spray on. This is caused by an odor, probably an ammonia-like smell, from the backing that tells the cat to urinate there. Applying a cat-repellent spray or washing the rug may help, or it may be necessary to get rid of the rug. Whether the problem is medical or behavioral, you still are left with the task of removing the odor. It's important to remove the odor from the items the cat has sprayed to prevent the cat from spraying there spray is a signal to the cat that this is the area to spray again. That's why it's important never to use ammonia to get rid of spray or cat urine odor.

One way to remove the odor is to clean the area with a good carpet shampoo. Then pour plain club soda on the area, and let it soak for about 10 minutes. Blot up the area with a cloth or rag. Also check with your local pet store for special products to deal with the problem.

If you have questions concerning a pet's health, contact Dr. Wynn Jones, MSU/CVM, Box 9825, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

aviservice puts vonkers back on the job quicker

If you lose your job and file for unemployment insurance after March 1, you may be eligible for a new service designed to get you back to work quicker.
The U.S. Congress has passed an act which requires all states to initiate a "profiling" system for unemployment insurance claimants. Profiling will identify those unemployment insurance claimants who are most likely to draw all the benefits for which they qualify before they find new jobs, Claimants who fit this profile may be eligible for re-training or intensive job search assis-tance from the State Employment Service and other

The profiling program began in Mississippi March 1, 1995, according to Tom Lord, executive director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

"This is really not a new prac-tice for Mississippi," Lord said. "Unemployment Insurance and Employment Service staffs have always worked closely together helping to place people in new jobs. For us, this will merely be a more intensive, focused effort.

Lord added that MESC shares responsibility with the Department of Economic and Community Development Employment Training Division and the state's Service Delivery Areas for implementing the profiling service.

All unemployment insurance claimants will be screened after they receive their first benefit check to determine if they fit the profile. Those who might qualify include people who are permanently laid off and those who are unlikely to return to their previous industry, usually because jobs in that industry are declining. Once individuals are selected, they will be referred to the Mississippi State Employment Service for assessment and intensive re-employment services. Some will go immediately into job referrals, some will be provided job search skills training and some will be referred for potential training. Persons who are selected for profiling are expected to report as scheduled for orientation and to participate in re-employment services, Lord said. Otherwise they may risk losing their unemployment benefits.

"Of course, there will be allowances made for circumstances which make participation difficult or unnecessary. There will also be an appeals process in contested cases," Lord said.

The new profiling concept has benefits both for the individual and the economy. Workers will be placed back into meaningful employment quicker, and the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund will benefit from shorter unemployment.

"In addition," Lord said, "individuals who are selected for the special services offered through profiling will be tracked over long periods of time. Thus we will be able to determine how much impact these intensive services have on helping people find jobs and shortening the length of unemployment.

Good root systems vital for plants

By Dr. Milo Burnham Horticulturist Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

All too often we are concerned with only the above ground portion of plants -- the leaves, flowers or fruit -- and fail to think about plant roots. Roots usually are necessary for plant survival and several important roles.

Roots anchor plants to the ground or some other supporting structure. Stems support the leaves, and roots generally support the stems. Because some plants (trees in particular) are so tall and heavy, their supporting root systems are Most plant roots are in the soil and not seen. But epiphytes (plants that live above the soil, often on other plants) frequently have exposed and visible roots that absorb moisture from the air and nutrients from decaying plant materials. Orchids and bromeliads are two commonly recognized epiphytic plants.

Surprisingly, Spanish moss, a bromeliad, has no roots at all. It obtains support from the plants it grows on, and its leaves and stems absorb water and nutrients from the air.

When fertilizing trees and shrubs, be aware that plants' roots systems extend far beyond the ends of the branches. This brings up a second function of roots -- absorbing nutrients and water from the soil.

Some nutrients are absorbed in small amounts by the leaves. but the bulk of nutrients needed by plants to grow are usually taken in from the soil or substrate by the roots.

Residential tile sewer lines often become choked with tree roots feeding on this readily available source of water and nutrients. In many cases the problem-causing tree is not even nearby. Tree roots also may invade well-prepared and fertilized flower beds.

Roots also function as storage organs for plants, especially in the fall when sap moves down into the roots for winter storage. Maple syrup is made from the sap of sugar maples harvested as it moves up from winter storage in the roots to the upper portion of the tree in spring.

Storage roots may serve as human food, such as the sweet potato. The successful production of asparagus depends on the plant's ability to store a lot of carbohydrates in the fleshy root system in summer and fall to feed the developing asparagus spears in spring.

Roots aren't often thought of for propagation, but sometimes sections of roots are used to propagate plants. The primary means of establishing commercial blackberries is by planting sections of blackberry roots.

Some parasitic plants, such as dodder and mistletoe, use their roots to invade other plants. Dodder is a parasitic plant frequently seen as a thick, yellowish web growing over other plants. Dodder has no chlorophyll, so it can't manufacture its own carbohydrates.

Shortly after a dodder seedling encounters a green plant, root-like structures develop on the dodder plant and invade the green host plant which becomes the dodder's life support system. The weak, earth-bound seedling root of the young dodder plant soon withers away, and the dodder lives entirely off the green plant host.

Mistletoe, like dodder, also gets nutrients and water through root-like structures that invade the host plant it infects. But mistletoe has chlorophyll and is able to manufacture some of its own carbohydrates necessary for growth and survival.

The Stennis Space Center offers a glimpse of the area's rich history and takes us forward to envision tantalizing ideas and vistas of a not too distant future as offered by science and technology.

Visitors can view exhibits representing the work of the Space Center with its resident agencies, live demonstrations, movies and a panoramic view from the 90-foot Space Tower.

Every 45 minutes guided bus tours will take visitors to the Space Shuttle Test Complex. Cafeteria facilities are available and cameras are allowed. Hostesses: Diamondhead Garden Club members.

HANCOCK COUNTY WELCOME CENTER

Thursday, March 23, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This copy of an antebellum home, opened in 1979 at the junction of I-10 and State Highway 607, has been rightfully called "the most beautiful Hospitality Center in the U.S A."

Interior appointments and paintings, as well as the handsome staircase, carry through the antebellum theme. Bay-Waveland Garden club members will be hostesses.

JACKSON COUNTY WELCOME CENTER

Thursday, March 23, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Jackson County Welcome Center, I-10, one mile west of the Alabama state line. Opened in June of 1984, this building is a replica of a colonial-style southern mansion.

The ground floor features two parlors. It is furnished in antique period pieces dating from 1700 and has draperies styled in keeping with the era. Hostesses: Moss Point Garden Club. Maps will be available here.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. BART A. DANIELSON

221 Baywood Drive

Sunsets and sounds of fish jumping is the background for their newly built West Indies Greek Revival waterfront home. The open design consists of 4.200 square feet with 3-1/2 baths

The open design consists of 4,200 square feet with 3-1/2 baths and four bedrooms, one of which is a second master suite upstairs with a private balcony overlooking the Bayou and Bay of St.

Features include large view windows, period antique furnishings and iron railing made in France.

Heart nine kitchen cobinets with granite counters were mode.

Heart pine kitchen cabinets with granite counters were made of recycled siding from the barn in back of 849 E. Scenic Drive. Appreciation of natural elements is apparent throughout with five varieties of wood and seven veins of marble incorporated into the elaborate interior trim.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. GENE COLLUM

216 Baywood Drive, Timber Ridge

This pale pink cottage with a West Indies flavor was designed by the owners. In the living room spruce green walls and pale pink carpeted floors are the setting for an English-style white marble fireplace over which hangs a large Patty Banister print, "Low Tide."

In the dining room an antique china closet displays Mrs. Collum's collection of opalescent glass by Fenton. Sheer drapes are gracefully hung and frame windows that allows one to enjoy a bayou view.

Throughout, contemporary pieces are skillfully blended with lovely antiques and Oriental accessories. A beautiful garden extends to waters edge.

HOME OF ARTIST GEORGIA KUHNER 22540 Fox Run Drive—Byrnewood

This lovely home is situated in a heavily wooded lot in the Byrnewood Development.

Rabbits, raccoons, possum and sometimes deer can be seen from its many windows. The house was designed by the artist to fill her needs and those of her son.

You will find many lovely antiques and paintings by the owner throughout the house. A loft gives her son a place for privacy.

An environmentally friendly septic system is of special interest. The kitchen cabinets are custom designed and very old. Her portraits are in homes from Connecticut to California.

HOME OF KEN AND JO JOHNS

6074 Menge Avenue

This lovely home, built in 1901 by master builder Louis Dubuisson, has been beautifully restored by the Johns. Each room is filled with antiques as well as mementos which give the visitor a sense of family history.

Of interest is the master bedroom with its privacy and space.

Most of the house is original and it is interesting to see the materials commonly used in the early 20th Century

materials commonly used in the early 20th Century.

The grounds surrounding the house contain plants and trees original to the house.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. B. J. HUNTER 7406 Lazy Acres Way

Just off I-10 in the Lazy Acres Development, this charming home is nestled just beyond five ancient oak trees. It is a New Orleans-style home filled with an eclectic blend of old and new. An interesting use of color and texture reflect the artistic talent of Mrs. Hunter. The family's needs and tastes are met in each room.

HOME OF DR. AND MRS. HARRY DANIELSON 849 East Scenic Drive

Hospitality Tea from 2-4:30 p m.

The original house was constructed in 1849 and the last addition was in the 1930's. When the Danielsons bought the house it had fallen into ruin.

From the deterioration has risen "Bell B Ann," one of the most spectacular homes on the Gulf Coast. The restored house with 10,000 square feet, contains six bedrooms and 5-1/2 baths.

The house is filled with exquisite antique furniture. Wallpapers and antique rugs are similar to those used in the house originally. Many plants and trees surrounding the house are those the original owners planted.

The Beachomber Trolley will be available at Wicker n' Wood to all tour locations 1-4:30 p.m.

Before picking up maps and starting the tour, view the lovely flowers and arrangements of Diamondhead Garden Club members for their annual Standard Flower Show. This year's theme is "Why We Belong To Garden Clubs"

GARDEN OF JOHN AND SANDRA SIBLEY 747 Kome Drive

This beautiful garden set among lovely magnolia, oak and pine trees is filled with many native Mississippi plants such as azaleas, camellias, nandinas and Indian hawthorne.

Mr. Sibley landscaped the yard and flower beds with plants for year-round seasonal blooming, proving you can have an award winning garden with low maintenance. Lovely potted plants enhance the patio with greenery and color. The area is surrounded with a living fence of oleander, holly and crepe myrtles.

HOME OF FRED AND WANDA ENGELKE 7443 Mahalo Hui Drive

A beautiful white marble statue greets you at the entry to this new 3,800 sq. ft. home. Passing through the brick arches, you enter the front door and step into a breathtaking view in the foyer.

The dining room is surrounded with five Greek columns and three Greek busts, all in white.

The living room opens on the far side to a sun room 30 ft. long overlooking the golf course. The Engelkes have many collections of plates, crystal, butterflies and other memorabilia on display. The wood throughout the home was custom made.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The 75th anniversary birthday party of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary Unit 139 gathered to make this a momentous occasion Friday, March 10 at the post home on Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The ladies decorated the room in red, white and blue. Members, friends and visitors assembled and visited until 7:30 p.m., when Commander Bill Moran called the meeting to order.

The Commander introduced former state Commander Clayton Thompson, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and some 50-year members. President Janelle Necaise introduced state President Bessie Ladner, also past state presidents Phyllis Moran and Lou Wilkerson, Unit 139 members, 9th District President Shirley Williams, and Roslyn Weathers and Susan Piazza, also of Unit 139, who represented Mississippi at the national conventions in 1986 and 1990. The program featured "Flags over Mississippi" and was narrated by Master Sergeant Jim Hoda and his crew from Detachment 1355th Quartermaster Company, National Guard of Bay St.

Necaise, on behalf of the auxiliary, called on Commander Moran and presented him with the post's birthday gift, a picture of the Lighthouse in Biloxi.

After the closing ceremonies Bobby Allison entertained with

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

Prior to the meeting, members and guests of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club met at the corner of Leonhard and North Beach Blvd. to participate in the release of a brown pelican — a victim of an oil spill in Pascagoula — into the Bay of St. Louis.

Uneeda Laitinen, a member of Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society (WRANPS), as well as a Bay-Waveland Garden Club member, did the honors.

Upon arriving at the garden club center on Leonhard, Laitinen released a robin that had fully recovered at the WRANPS Rehab Center from injuries due to being hit by a car.

The March meeting of the club was called to order by president Kathleen Kemp, who led the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Billie Snider read a devotional prayer.

The minutes of the February meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and approved. Treasurer Crystal Burrows also read the "Dues Notice" which is required by the club by-laws.

Kemp announced the death of past president and flower show judge of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, Juanita Miller. Our condolences to the family.

The nominating committee made an announcement that they would present the slate of officers for the 1995-96 at the April

Lydia Schultz, owner of Lydia's Audubon Shoppe in Waveland, gave an interesting and informative program on "How to Attract and Care for Butterflies in Our Gardens."

Kemp thanked hostesses Cindy Lowe, Sharon Kleinpeter, Venda Mae Ladner, Lynn Nybo, Helene Price and Alyce Newkirk for their festive table setting and delicious food.

The plant exchange was held. It was announced a firecracker vine would be planted at the Garden Center to attract hummingbirds. There were 22 members and two guests present. The meeting was adjourned.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

TOPS MS 233 Waveland met Tuesday, March 14 at the Waveland Public Library. Bev was the week's best loser with 4 pounds. Janet was the Kops best loser, and Paula and Tammy were the youth's best losers.

Anna Mae received a charm for losing 20 pounds, and David received a charm for being the best loser in February.

There will be an auction next week after the meeting Ginny presented a program on the reasons why people don't lose weight. There were 17 present at the meeting.

Coast Episcopal seniors named National Merit

Finalists

Jesmyn Ward and Robert Garrett, both seniors at Coast Episcopal High School, have been named finalists in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program. As finalists they are eligible for the 2,000 scholarships from the National Merit Program, as well as over 4,500 others offered by corporations, foundations and universities. National Merit Finalists represent about one-half of one percent of U.S. graduating seniors. Ward has also been named a finalist in the National Achieve-privately financed competition for black Americans.

She is one of approximately 1,200 finalists in the United States and will be considered for scholarships from the Achievement Program, as well as from colleges, professional associations and corporations.

Ward is the daughter of Mrs. Norine Ward of Pass Christian and Mr. Jerry Ward of Gulfport.

"These bulletin boards give teachers the opportunity to show off their students' work as well as draw from other teachers" ideas," said Charlotte Daves of the Teacher Resource Center. "Actual student efforts are more inspiring than pre-packaged materials."

The Teacher Resource Center will provide the background paper and has available some creative borders. However, teachers need to supply other material needed to decorate the bulletin boards.

The work will remain on display for one month, after which teachers will have their materials returned to them.

Teachers who visit the Teacher Resource Center receive different ideas for classroom bulletin boards from the displays. Presently, classwork from Pearl River Central Elementary in Picayune, Hancock North Central Elementary in Bay St. Louis and Quarles Elementary in Long Beach all have displays at the Teacher. Resource Center.

The Teacher Resource Center, located in the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center, contains a vast collection of materials for educators, including hundreds of videotapes, printed materials and lesson plans, which reflect the most recent scientific discoveries made about space, oceans and the Earth.

For more information about having your classroom work displayed, or to learn more about the NASA Teacher Resource Center, call Charlotte Daves at (601) 688-7302.

Citizenship, self-esteem classes begin Tuesday

BY RANDY PONDER

Several teachers from North Bay Elementary School are offering after-school classes on good citizenship.

As a link between school and community, the classes will be offered free of charge to all students ages five to 13. They will consist of two 30-minute sessions per week based on the 'Learning for Life' series published by the Boy Scouts of America. The curriculum reinforces good citizenship and encourages students to respect others and to develop self respect. The lessons will include the following themes:

My Home, My Friends, My Neighborhood, Listening and Talking, My Family, What's Right, My Choices, Happy to be

Me, and Don't Quit. Janet Fiveash, Mary Kay Deen, Kathleen Jenkins and Michele McNeely have volunteered to teach the classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4:15 to 4:45p.m. in teams of two. The classes will begin Tuesday, March 21, at the Save Our. Children Center on Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis, across from St. Stanislaus Stadium.

For more information, contact Kim Stasny at 467-4757.

PO3 CLARK

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Donald C. Clark, a 1990 graduate of Hancock North Central High School, has been serving off the the coast of Mogadishu, Somalia, aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Essex as part of the international task force assembled to withdraw United Nations forces from Clark arrived in Somalia in late February after completing half of a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian oceans and Persian Gulf aboard the 844-foot-long ship.

Clark is one of 3,800 Sailors and 2,600 Marines who made up a four-ship amphibious landing force which assisted in the final withdrawal of U.N. peace-keepers from Mogadishu. Joining USS Essex were USS Belleau Wood, USS Fort Fisher, USS Odgen and the 13th Marine Expeditionary Unit. The primary mission of the Marines was to provide security for the final stages of the withdrawal.

Overall, more than 7,000 U.S. men and women have been serving in the operation and were joined by coalition naval Reindeer on the lawn dressed up for Spring welcome you to this lovely traditional two-story home. As you enter the foyer, which is separated from the great room and dining room by a border of seasonal greenery, you will notice Ethel's framed needlepoint, which is throughout the

Many other things from the LeBretons' world travels are in almost every room. Notice approximately 600 dolls of Ethel's spectacular collection; more are housed in special glass cabinets in the "Doll Room" upstairs.

Alvin's "Rotarian" study room is full of memorabilia, awards, etc. that attest to his many years of service in the Rotary. Not to be overlooked are his special collection of beautiful porcelain birds.

DIAMONDHEAD COUNTRY CLUB AND WALKING TRAIL

Luncheon will be served on a Dutch Treat basis from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m, in the dining room. Reservations will not be necessary unless you are a party of 10 or more.

After lunch you can walk through the newly landscaped areas in front of the club or walk around flower beds surrounding the Walking

BAY-WAVELAND GARDEN CENTER 114 Leonard Ave., Bay St. Louis 10 a.m. to noon

This much-loved home of Bay-Waveland Garden Club is on the National Historic Register. The club was founded in 1938. A warm welcome is extended with coffee. Pilgrimage brochures and maps available.

GARDENS OF MR. AND MRS. DANIEL LAITINEN 1346 North Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis

10 a.m. - noon
The raised-bed garden has been designed to attract and provide habitat for butterflies and hummingbirds.

Included are plants butterflies utilize as nectar or food supplies, and numerous host plants which provide food for caterpillars. The adjacent marsh provides food, shelter and breeding habitat for birds, animals and butterflies. Numerous threatened and/or endangered birds have been documented in the marsh and pond. Bring your binoculars.

> KATE LOBRANO HOUSE 180 Cue Street, Bay St. Louis

11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Now the home of the Hancock County Historical Society, this turn-of-the century cottage is in the process of renovation.

The home of Kate Maynard Lobrano, given by her heirs in 1988 to be the permanent home of the Historical Society, is a two-bay cottage with an undercut front and side gallery of vertical barge board construction. It features French doors at the entrance and along the gallery. The interior 12-inch rough-hewn wall boards are exposed and returned to original state. The house also serves as a small museum. Docents will be available during the tour.

> BAY ST. LOUIS CITY HALL 200 South Second Street

10 a.m.-4 p.m.
This building was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1986. Its eclectic style of Greek, Roman and Egyptian Revival, complete with Renaissance dome, has been called a "good example of a primitive but well-done classic

It was build for $5,000 in 1905. 64 years later the winds of Hurricane Camille blew the dome away. Live oak trees on the grounds were used for public executions. There will be an art display in the downstairs area. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

> THE PALM HOUSE 217 Union Street, Bay St. Louis 1-3 p.m.

Visit this authentic 19th century West Indies planters home surrounded by ancient live oaksand palms. On the National Historic Registry, it is a Bed and Breakfast. Owner Mary Golman welcomes you with true Southern hospitality.

ST. ROSE DE LIMA CATHOLIC CHURCH 310 South Necaise Ave., Bay St. Louis

St. Rose Church was originally build and dedicated in 1926. After 65 years, our "house of worship" was in need of renovation.

Seeking a way to re-acquaint St. Rose parishioners with themselves as a parish and the parish with its ethnic heritage, Fr. Kenneth Hamilton developed the concept "Re-Rooting and Re-Routing in Christ."

The renovation was undertaken by local craftsmen who did the carpentry, electrical work and painting of the church. Mother earth provided the raw material (trees) for the altar, the ambo, the tabernacle and the table for the water

Local artists and parishioner Ellsworth Collins and his crew translated Fr. Ken's ideas for the altar into reality. The artist, Auseklis Ozols, created "a mural which represents both the Crucifixion and Resurrection.'

BAY ST. LOUIS RESIDENTIAL CARE CENTER-725 Dunbar Avenue, 1-3 p.m.

A retirement and life care community home, a few of our club members are residents. They are eager to show you around their facilities. The main sitting rooms, chapel and craft area are designed for their use.

The gardens are designed by members who are residents there. Just behind the center is the Ann Anderson Library.

SUMMER RESIDENCE OF MR. AND MRS. MARK W. PALMER 317 Nicholson Avenue, in Waveland 1-3 p.m.

The home was built in 1947 by the Perrilliat family of New Orleans. The home, which is situated on an acre of park-like grounds, was built on an unusual angle to catch the cool Gulf breezes during a time when air-conditioning was not yet a reality.

The interior of the home is graced with Canadian red cypress walls and heart pine floors. In 1990, the home was completely renovated at which time the luxury of air-conditioning was

> HOME OF JESSIE ST. CROIX AND HAROLD CINQUIGRANO 204 Bourgeois, Waveland

1-4 p.m. The home was built around the turn of the century as a school. It then became a social/ pleasure club before being purchased from Genevieve Mollere by Margie O'Dair, an actress from New Orleans, who did the renovations in keeping with the original structure. Their background in landscaping is obvious by their lovely garden.

between 1979 and 1991, comparable to the number of the Vietnam War casualties. Thirty children a day are injured by gun violence, and every two hours a child dies from a gunshot wound. With violence running rampant in our nation, DREAM Developing Resources for Education in America Inc.) is challenging people across the state and nation to join in stopping the violence.

The annual "Be Smart Week," developed by DREAM and funded by the Mississippi State Department of Mental Health, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Division, will be held during the week of March 24-31.

The theme of the week is "Stop the Violence: Together in Peace." Some schools across the state will be observing this week at different times during the month of March in order to accommodate school schedules.

DREAM advocates that it does not matter as much when children observe this week as long as they learn about violence and about what they can do to prevent it.

Many exciting activities are going on across the state to get youth, parents, schools, businesses and community leaders involved in the theme of the week.

Free materials have been distributed to registered schools throughout the state to help teachers implement such activities in the classroom.

The symbol of the week is one peace. DREAM has developed a "Be Smart Week" white flag that says "Stop the Violence: Together in Peace."

DREAM's director of training and communication and "Be Smart Week" chairman Glenda Crump said, "These flags will be waying all across Mississippi throughout the month of March and will hopefully serve as a reminder of the peace they symbolize for Mississippians everywhere during other times of the year as well."

The ultimate goal of "Be Smart Week" is to educate and involve youth and to promote healthy lifestyles free of alcohol, tobacco, other drugs, and violence. For information about "Be Smart Week" contact Holly Gilmer at DREAM at 601-360-0945 1-800-233-7326.

actually you probably wouldn't have it any other way. Often clothing can show the activity through rips, tears and detachments. Here are some tips to make your child's clothes more kid proof: Reinforce stress areas such. as armhole and crotch seams, and the top edges of pockets with rows of stitching. Reinforce under closures. Button and buttonhole areas should be interfaced.

Add decorative appliques on knees and elbows for added strength. Allow ample fabric for hems. In general, allow a 3-inch hem at the bottom of dresses, skirts and slacks, and a 11/2 - to 2-inch hem at the bottom of blouses, sleeves and skirts. Use elastic waistbands for extra comfort. When attaching elastic, make it 2 inches longer than needed so that when it becomes too tight, simply take out the stitching and add extra fullness.

Make growth tucks in hems, sleeves or at waistlines. Tucks work best in light to medium weight fabrics.

Do not press hem edge flat. Press lightly so the crease will be easier to let down later. If hem crease has faded, you might try covering with trim Add length to a skirt or dress by putting eyelet or fabric ruffle Sewing for children can be great fun and a real opportunity for creative expression both for the parent and for the child.

ORDINANCE NO. 388
AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE FABRICATION, ERECTION, USE AND MAINTENANCE OF SIGNS, SYMBOLS, MARKINGS AND ADVERTISING DEVICES WITHIN SAID CITY.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, as follows: SECTION 1. PURPOSE AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

PROVISIONS

A. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE
The purpose of this Ordinance is to establish standards and limitations for the fabrication, erection, use and maintenance of signs, symbols, markings, and advertising devices within the city. These regulations are designed to safeguard and enhance property values, to protect public and private investments in buildings, open spaces and property, to preserve and ues, to protect public and private investments in buildings, open spaces and property, to preserve and improve the appearance of the City as a place in which to live and to work, to preserve and enhance the attractiveness of the City to nonresidents who come to the City to visit, trade, or invest, to reduce public safety hazards caused by signs which are improperfy constructed or maintained, or which impair visibility or otherwise distract the attention of motorists and, in general, to promote the health, safety and welfare of the general public. It is also intended that this Ordinance aide in the development and promotion of business and industry by providing regulations that encourage aesthetic values, creativity, offectiveness and flexibility in the design and use of signs without creating effects detrimental to the general public.

 GENERAL PROVISIONS
 While recognizing the need for adequate business and noncommercial identification, adventising and communication, the Ordinance requires that signs: (1) Be compatible with their surroundings, and in compliance with proper design and zoning regulations;
 (2) Be designed, installed and maintained to meet the needs of sign users while promoting the environment desired by the general public;

(3) Be designed, constructed, installed and maintained in a manner that will not endanger the public safetained in a manner that will not endanger the public safety or create traffic hazards;

(4) Be legible and readable in the circumstances in which they are utilized and,
(5) Be respectful of the reasonable rights of other advertisers whose messages are displayed.
This Ordinance applies to signs which are intended to be viewed from a public right-of-way as such highways and streets, and to signs which are intended to be viewed from outdoor areas of public and private property used for public pedestriain purposes or from vehicular access to such property.

coss to such property.

This Ordinance does not regulate the use of materials This Ordinance does not regulate the use of materials such as noncommercial holiday signs and decorations, signs on products, product containers or dispensers, public information and safety signs, any signs required by local State or Federal law, or building design exclusive of any commercial message.

5. Directory Signs.

2) Básic Provisions. Directory signs are encouraged individually or as part of a Uniform Sign Plan. Directory signs are allowed as on or off premises ground signs with minimum two (2) interchangeable panels of a uniform size as described below. Each panel of a directory sign will feature an autonomous activity occupying a distinct property or part of a property. One panel is permitted for each such activity or category. This provision will apply even when multiple, distinct business entities occupy an undivided property, for example, independent lewelry and watch repair in a retail jewelry store, or an allied health specialist with an independent practice in the office of a physician. Alternatively, a panel may announce a distinct category of activity, for example, anxieus or restaurants.

(b) Permit required. A permit is required from the Zoning Enforcement Office for each directory sign, but the only action required upon interchanging of panels is to supply the Zoning Enforcement officer with a drawing or photograph of the new arrangement. This will apply even when adding to the number of occupied panels as long as the sign overall remishes with the limits tabulated below or set by Individual action of the Planning and Zoning Commission in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

(c) information shown. An identified activity may

(c) Information shown. An identified activity may appear on more than one directory sign, but all such signs must apply to the same locale or a small locale completely within a larger one. Each permitted directory sign application must identify a particular locale, which may also be featured on the sign. The locale named will be proposed by the applicant(s), and is not restricted to giftical names. Up to three (3) directory signs identical in appearance may pertain to the same locale, but these must not be visible from one another. Directory signs may differentiate easily recognized portions of a locale announced by a remote directory sign, but in no case may a given activity solely occupy a panel on more than three (3) directory signs.

(d) Placements permitted. Directory signs may be placed on private property or on a public right of way in a commercial, industrial, or medical office district consistent with the requirements as to noninterference with traffic safety and public utilities as described in this section. An additional requirement in placement is of noninterference with other signs as set out in this section under Ground Signs: Separation, Directory Signs placed on private property consistitute ground signs with respect to separation of aligns on that property, in the case of directory signs placed on private property on phase property on a country on a panel of the sign, except reasonable costs traceable to the section and upleap of the sign.

If you smoke or know someone who does, there is a new business in town that can save you money. The name of this business is Payless Cigarettes. (The name says it all!)

Payless Cigarettes is part of a four state group of 26 stores affording them the opportunity to get quantity discounts and promotions and pass these specials on to their customers. The primary goal of Payless Cigarettes is to provide smokers with a spotless, organized, inexpensive, and friendly atmosphere in which to shop for their tobacco needs. At Payless, they refer to their employees as service people, not sales persons for a very important reason. If you are a smoker, you probably have been treated as a "second class citizen", not at Payless! The service people at Payless want your visit with them to be a pleasant experience. The people at Payless Cigarettes realize that as a smoker, you are already operating against all types of pressures and they respect that your have chosen to exercise your American right to free choice.

The people at Payless only want to be of service to you, their valued client, so stop by the new store and meet Michaelle, Ramona and Patti, the service people. Payless Cigarettes is located in Bay St. Louis, next to Jitney, Jungle and are open 7 days a week from 9:00 AM to 8:00 PM MOOD day through Saturday and 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM on Sundays Pay less Cigarettes accepts coupons, checks and they welcome wh sale accounts.

Deep in the forest, high atop a tall tree, a mother owl watches as her fledgling little one stretches his wings — about to leave his perch for the first time, for the freedom of the open sky. It's perhaps one of nature's most magnificent moments and one of the most tender.

Presenting "Learning to Fly," the exciting new premiere from The Hamilton Collection. Expertly crafted of cold-cast porcelain, this sculpture premieres a breathtaking new collection entitled Nesting Instincts. A must-have series featuring endearing mother owls and their young. So amazingly lifelike and so adorable, this heartwarming issue captures a mother owl and her offspring with wonderful detail. Every feature is articulated and meticulously hand-painted to bring out the tender scene. Each issue will be accompanied by an official Certificate of Authenticity attesting to its status as a Hamilton Collection exclusive.

As an owner of "Learning to Fly," you will have the privilege — never the obligation — to acquire each subsequent issue. As always, our 30 Day 100% Satisfaction Guarantee assures you order at no risk. So follow your instincts and submit your order today!
